

APPICS Tokensale Infos

APPICS token (XAP), a SMT meta-token, is the network's currency. Its market value determines the value of the pool of rewards paid by APPICS to contributors. Instead of traditional mining, the tokens are generated via contribution. The APPICS token can be traded and exchanged for any cryptocurrency or at currency. The tokens serve as credits, which contributors can earn on the application and easily exchange for any other currency. The purpose of this is to reward active content creators and curators within the application, creating a new tradable asset: contribution.
